

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

VOL. XXIX, No. 44.

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1938.

$2.00 PER ANNUM

TO MARK TWO MINUTES' SILENCE

Official request for observance of two minutes' silence at 11 a.m. on Friday, November 11—Remembrance Day—has been made by the secretary of state at Ottawa in a communication received by Hon. J. C. Bowen, lieutenant-governor of Alberta.

The letter states that His Majesty The King has approved of arrangements for the period of silence to be observed throughout the British Commonwealth. Accordingly, dominion, provincial and municipal authorities are asked to arrange for suspension of all vehicular traffic during the period of silence.

SHARP CHECK ON RECKLESS DRIVERS

Suspension of drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses in Alberta since April 1st have totalled 124, according to figures issued recently by the provincial secretary's department. During the whole of the 1937-38 fiscal year, ended March 31st last, the suspensions aggregated 180.

It appears that this is a small percentage in relation to the 124,800 licensed drivers in Alberta, an increase over the previous year's total of 120,672.

While licenses are suspended for various causes, there is still good reason for the police to keep a careful check on careless and reckless driving on the highways, in the opinion of officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

As was to be anticipated, speeding has increased on the main highways as the result of extension of the "black top" or bituminous surfacing.

Reckless driving is not condoned by the A.M.A. or by any sane driver. With the steady improvements being made in hard surfacing, it is all the more essential to maintain a sharp lookout for the reckless driver and to mete out severe penalties to curb this menace.

TOMORROW, SATURDAY — POPPY DAY, BLAIRMORE

The symbol of the Poppy, the sorrowful appropriation of its blood-red bloom, takes on a deeper significance with each succeeding year. The Great War is passing almost into legend; a generation is bequeathed the duty of carrying into the years that have yet to come the work and the ideals of those whom the Poppy commemorates.

Canada, along with the whole Empire, has adopted the Poppy as a symbol for Remembrance Day, because of the 60,000 graves in France and Belgium, in which lie the dead of the preceding generations; because of the 170,000 Canadians to whom the conflict brought disablement of one kind or another. The crosses in the cemeteries of Flanders are garlanded with Poppies—dolorous emblems of a nation's youth consumed in the "Wrath-red forage of War."

On Poppy Day, this Dominion pauses in its normal activities to recall the sacrifices of its young men, to pay tribute to their heroism, their hardship and the uncompensated fortitude with which they bore their privations and sufferings. At the same time, Canada strives to liquidate, in some small measure, an obligation to those disabled men employed in the Veterans Industries of the country, whose only means of livelihood is the making of these simple emblems.

The Dominion-wide ramifications of the great Canadian Legion, with its tens of thousands of workers on Poppy Day, take care of the distribution of these Poppies throughout Canada. There is thus ensured to their disabled comrades in these veteran shops a lowly performance of a sorrowful, yet praiseworthy task. All Canadians of every age and degree should wear a symbol on Poppy Day, for that is surely a day of recognition and of re-dedication to the work on hand, of continuing the structure of civilization where the workers of a previous generation left off.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

On Friday, November 11th, the 26th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, will be fittingly observed in Blaimore, under the joint auspices of Crow's Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and the Blaimore Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

The programme for the day will include the unveiling and dedication of the beautiful War Memorial, erected during the past year on the grounds adjoining the local district court house and Mounted Police barracks by the local I.O.D.E. Chapter.

The service will commence promptly at 10.45 a.m. near the memorial under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Angus MacDonald. Taking part in the service will be the following: Mr. George Moffat, Mr. J. H. Farmer, Mr. J. W. Gresham, Mr. J. Shevels (Bellevue), Mr. J. Rudd, Mr. D. A. Howe, Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., Rev. J. R. Hague (Coleman), and members of the I.O.D.E. and the local branch of the Canadian Legion. The West Canadian Colliers' band will be in attendance to furnish the music for the ceremony.

The annual I.O.D.E. dance in the Columbus hall at night will bring the day's observance to a close.

Ever since the Armistice, the Canadian Legion of the B. E. S. League has been selling poppy wreaths and emblems, the profits of which have been used to assist disabled ex-service men in the various districts. Poppies will be on sale a week prior to Armistice Day, and it is hoped that all citizens will wear a poppy on that day. All poppies and wreaths this year are being made under the direction of the Department of Pensions and National Health in the Veterans' shops in the Colonel Belcher hospital at Calgary, so that in addition to the profit from the campaign itself, considerable money will be distributed in wages to ex-service men from the campaign. The selling is all by voluntary assistance, and any profit made by the local branch will be spent in the locality for the benefit of ex-service men.

Schools are arranging for special lessons on the day prior to Armistice.

Mr. A. Walker, Legion provincial president, will broadcast over CFBN, the Voice of the Prairie, from 10.15 to 10.30 p.m. this Friday, giving a report on the recent Dominion Council meeting held in Ottawa, and also refer to the Poppy Day and Remembrance Day services.

On Remembrance Day, also, the Canadian Legion, in collaboration with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will broadcast from 8 to 9 p.m., Alberta time. His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir will bring a message from His Majesty The King and deliver it during this broadcast. The Right Honourable W. Lyon Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, and the Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, will speak. The musical portion of the broadcast will be sustained by the famous Mendelssohn choir of Toronto. The broadcast will be one of the outstanding programmes of the year, and it is intended that it shall not only be a commemoration, but will reflect in some measure the wave of relief which passed over all people by the removal of the recent threat of war.

CALGARY BREWERY GOLD MEDALIST

The Calgary Brewing & Malting Company on Wednesday won the championship gold medal for the best bottled beer and stout, with 39 firms from the dominions and colonies in the empire section of the breweries' exhibition at London.

A total of 760 brewers tasted the products in two days of sampling at the Royal Agricultural Hall.

The Calgary firm also won the medal for the best beer in another class, with Shea's Brewery of Winnipeg second, and Lethbridge Breweries third.

WARNING TO HOUSEHOLDERS

Many daylight burglaries in the residential districts of the town are being committed by solicitors who enter houses they find are unoccupied and unlocked. They have an apparently legitimate excuse for being in the neighborhood, and for that reason it is extremely difficult for the police to catch them in the act.

It appears that a number of persons are thrown into a community in one day, perform their canvass and move on to victimize some other centre. Their employers are not particularly careful whom they employ, and sometimes among their solicitors are persons of criminal tendencies, who do not hesitate to prowls a house. Others practice frauds on the public in various ways.

Recognizing this danger, and desirous of protecting the citizens of Blaimore, the police ask co-operation of citizens as far as possible. When one of such solicitors call at your house, notify the police immediately, so the police can investigate just what business they are representing, and if their good character can be established; no great harm will have been done. Reputable persons do not fear investigation; in fact, they very often welcome it.

Under no circumstances should these solicitors be entertained before 9 a.m. or after 5 p.m., and never at back doors. Let them show a license or permit to operate, otherwise have no dealings with them. Pay no money to strangers unless you receive the article you are paying for, and never permit that stranger to enter your home. Neither should you leave him standing at an open door while you go back to get your purse. Shut the door on him first. Buy no merchandise from strangers who give the impression that they are offering you a bargain. Very often such goods are stolen property, and it is advisable to call the police at once.

Remember that today's crook does not look like a thug. Don't trust a stranger to come into your house because he is prosperous looking and a smooth talker with polished manners. Under no circumstances should you inform these strangers of your neighbor's absence. In conclusion, beware of transients or beggars, because many of them are thieves—or worse.

The above is an extract from a warning circular issued by Chief of Police Goddard this week.

PLAN YOUTH MEETING IN EDMONTON

The Alberta Youth Congress issues the following announcement:

"The second Alberta Youth Congress meets in Edmonton on November 11-12-13. Every youth organization in Alberta should have delegates at this convention. This second Alberta congress must represent a true cross-section of all the young people in the province. This is a call to Youth. At no time has a youth congress had such urgent matters before it.

"At no time in the history of the congress movement has there been such threats to peace and liberty—threats that strike at the life of youth and youth movements. The congress demands action. You can do your part. If you are between the ages of 0 and 15, and belong to any young people's organization, no matter what your purpose, your group should be represented in Edmonton. Information and copies of the programme or registration forms may be had from the chairman of the programme committee, E. D. Jenkinson, 517 - 20th avenue west, Calgary."

Customer (euphemically): "I had you have placed all the best tomatoes on the top."

Greco: "Yes, ma'am. We do that to save you the trouble of hunting through the box for them."—Ex.

WILLIAM BELL PASSES

The rather sudden death of Mr. William Bell, popular resident manager of the Grand Union hotel at Coleman, on Saturday morning, came as a great shock to the people of the Crow's Nest Pass and Southern Alberta generally.

Mr. Bell had been ill for but a few days, having suffered an internal hemorrhage on the Tuesday previous, from the effects of which he failed to rally.

He was born in Scotland fifty-three years ago and came to Canada in 1912. For a number of years he was employed at the McGillivray mine in Coleman, and in 1919 assumed the management of the Grand Union. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Margaret and Mae, of Coleman; his mother and two sisters in Toronto, and a brother, John, in Coleman.

Funeral took place from the family residence on Sunday afternoon, with A. E. Ferguson, of the Crow's Nest Undertaking Co. in charge of arrangements. Service was held at the home by Rev. H. J. Bevan, of St. Paul's United Church. The procession, headed by a forty-piece band, and members of the Coleman hockey club, Coleman Lodge of Elks and the Masonic Order, was one of the largest ever witnessed in the Crow's Nest Pass. The remains were laid to rest in the Protestant cemetery.

With the bereaved relatives The Enterprise extends sincere sympathy.

WILLIAM HAMPSON PASSES SUDDENLY

Word was received from Calgary last night of the sudden death of William Hampson, formerly of Bellevue. No particulars are available as we go to press. Mr. Hampson had been in poor health for a considerable time, and with his family moved to Calgary quite recently. He was for a number of years steward at the clubrooms of the Bellevue Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and resigned that position about a year ago. He is survived by his wife and five children. It is likely the remains will be laid to rest in Calgary.

Creston Valley's apple output this year amounted to more than 300,000 boxes.

Air-Mindedness Needed

The very recent inauguration of a transcontinental airway express service in the Dominion marks not only a very important milestone in the history of transportation in this country, but also a very valuable contribution to the commercial and industrial life of Canada.

The word "milestone" is a particularly appropriate term to apply to this new development in transport facilities in this country, for the relative rapidity with which new and high-powered airplanes gobble up the miles in their cross-country flights constitutes a promise of big developments in the commercial life of the country in the next few years.

Hard on the heels of the initiation of an airway express service is to come the daily transportation of passengers in these pullmans of the sky; in fact, such service may actually be in effect by the time these comments appear in print.

The next step, and this is not likely to be far distant, is the linking up of the Trans-Canada Airways system with the British Imperial Airways lines, thus affording through aerial mail, express and passenger services between countries throughout the Dominion and the important cities of Great Britain and other units of the Empire. These lines are destined to be linked together to form a vast Empire network of rapid transportation of goods, mail and passengers.

With feeder lines operating in the various countries forming the Empire, the time is approaching when it will be possible to fly on a single ticket from any important centre in the Dominion to almost any important city in any other part of the Empire, or vice versa.

Greater Capacity And Speed

Just how soon these ambitions are to be realized to the full it is a little difficult to predict, but the rapidity with which progress in this direction is now being made in a country which has hitherto lagged behind, it may safely be assumed that it is not far distant.

Coincident with this phase of development in the field of commercial aviation in Canada and other parts of the Empire is a marked progressive acceleration in the capacities and speeds of the ships of the air destined to carry much of the mail, express and passenger business of the future.

Here again, it is difficult if not impossible to predict what the limitations in either speed or capacity may be. In the upper lanes of the airway traffic of the future, great speeds can be attained, experts declare. A rate of flight of 400 miles an hour has already been achieved on a regular schedule between Montreal and Toronto and London, England, in the near future is by no means beyond the realm of practicality.

Nor is the prediction that the time is not far distant when craft in regular service will be capable of carrying 100 passengers at one time out of the range of possibility or even probability. Experts state that aircraft of substantial capacity are essential if long distance flying on a regular schedule is to be provided at economic rates and much research and experimentation along these lines is being conducted by officials and experts of the principal air lines of the world.

Safety Must Be Assured

One other factor that is essential to the successful operation and maintenance of commercial aviation on large scale basis is safety for the passengers. In this connection strenuous efforts are being made to overcome the not unnatural qualms of those who have yet to make their first trip aloft, and that means by far the great majority of the travelling public.

Statistics show that in this field considerable success has been achieved and some of the European and American companies can point with justifiable pride to a fine record of freedom from accident involving loss of life or injury. When the number of miles flown and the number of passengers carried, together with the infancy of this field of the transportation industry, are taken into consideration, the record may be regarded as a triumph of scientific engineering and human ingenuity.

Insofar as the Canadian service now being launched is concerned, extraordinary efforts have been made, and are being made, to ensure the safety of the passengers of the future, and tributes which have recently been made to the care exercised by those responsible for the organization of the service, the preparation of equipment, landing fields, safety devices and all the arrangements and plans which have to be made in advance of such a great undertaking, appear to be well justified.

Concurrently with the efforts being made to provide for a service at charges within the range of the average traveller's pocketbook, a campaign is being conducted in an effort to make the public air-minded.

Unfortunately for these efforts, the occasional crash is still regarded as a news event of major importance and is treated as such, and Hollywood producers find that pictures depicting airplane accidents bring good results at the box office.

It may be expected, however, that as experience demonstrates the relative safety of this method of transportation, public confidence will grow and the disappearance of public trepidation will mark the solution of the final problem in the development of this great new industry in this country.

Canada Advertisers

A Food Products Campaign Is Put On In England

The Canadian food products campaign in England is "going over," according to a news release. The facts show that poster advertisements, large display type and bold colors is being carried on a total of almost 2,500 buses and vans, during a nine-month period, together with feature advertising in the London evening papers and suburban press. This first campaign commenced on September 1 and is to run for a period of six months, covering a circulation of 2,681,292, representing a total of 37,981,685 advertising messages.

U.S. Gold Hoard

Holds More Than Half Of All Monetary Gold Of The World

The United States treasury disclosed that its gold hoard was about $14,000,000,000—more than 55 per cent of all the monetary gold in the world.

The United States' holdings grew enormously during the European war, when gold was sent to buy dollar credits. Since September 1, the treasury has acquired $872,768,635 worth of the metal, more than during any similar period in history.

Most of the treasury gold has been converted into cash by the issuance of pay currency against the metal. However, the department has retained $626,778,907 worth in an unobligated fund from which it could supply overseas investors who decide to take their money home.

The latest Federal Reserve Board estimate of the world's monetary gold stocks was $23,803,000,000, of which England and France each had about $2,500,000,000. Holland about $1,000,000,000. The total European gold stocks just before the war crisis was estimated at $9,114,000,000. These figures do not include substantial hoards by private persons.

Have Not Forgotten

People Of Canada Still Paying Heavily For Last War

The Great War came to an end 20 years ago but the people of Canada, as of other countries which participated in it, are still paying heavily for it, not only in the impaired health of many of the men and women who saw active service but in the outlay which they are required to make from year to year and from day to day upon the war debt which was amassed and upon the provision of pensions and other allowances for ex-service men and their dependents.

The Hon. C. G. Power, the Minister of Pensions and National Health, mentioned the other day that the total annual expenditure on pensions account is now in excess of $4,000,000, and that since the Pensions Act became effective during the war, the people of Canada have paid out the large sum of $770,000,000 in caring for ex-service men and their dependents. About 250,000 people are still assisted in this manner, and the number of pensions is still increasing.

It has been said that no country has done more for those who took up arms in its defence during the Great War than Canada, and this is the truth. Not only are pension allowances upon a fairly generous scale but new classes of pensioners have been admitted from time to time with an easing of the regulations governing the payment of allowances having been continuously carried out. It is to the credit of all governments which have functioned in this country since the war period that, whatever the difficulties of their financial positions, they have not neglected the fundamental duty to the men and women who became enrolled in the Expeditionary Force and who suffered wounds or disability by reason of active service.

Nor have they forgotten the widows and orphans of those who lost their lives during the war. For this they have the overwhelming support of public opinion.

It is knowledge of the cost of war, in terms of human suffering as well as in dollars and cents, which makes Canada, along with other parts of the Empire, determined that war shall not reappear unless every avenue of honorable escape from it has been fully explored. . . . There are firebrakes here, as elsewhere, who talk and behave as if they would welcome war. Not all of them, however, have children of military age who would be affected by war nor can all of them fully appreciate the cost to them and to future generations of such a struggle as that which would be launched if the nations found themselves unable to get along without resort to war.—Brookville Recorder and Times.

A Necessary Industry

Agriculture Should Be Recognized As Such In Canada.

The farm problem is universal and nations have attempted to solve it each in their own way. For us, Canada a government bonus is not the solution, neither is price fixing, state control nor a wishy-washy policy of government paternalism. The remedy must be based on the recognition of agriculture as an industry and the right of farm people to enjoy the same opportunities and economic advantages that are within the reach of other social and industrial groups. If agriculture cannot prosper on that basis it will have to decline. It cannot prosper on any other basis, for the financial resources of Canada are not sufficient to support agriculture as a bonus industry.—Farmer's Advocate.

Death Rate Down

People Of U.S. Are Healthier Than At Any Previous Period

The people of the United States have been healthier during the last six months than at any time in history. Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon-general of the federal public health service, declared today something unforeseen such as an epidemic occurs, the nation will have in 1938 the lowest death rate ever known.

His observations were made just before the opening today of the sixtieth annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

Death rates from all diseases during the first half of 1938 decreased 8½ per cent. from the 1937 rate. Dr. Parran declared, being only 11 deaths for every 1,000 persons.

Drifting In The Arctic

Soviet Vessel To Spend Another Winter In Ice Fiees

Captain Constantin Badigin of the Soviet ice-breaker Sedoff reported by wireless that his crew was beginning its second Arctic night in good shape about 500 miles from the North Pole. The ice-bound crew marked its first anniversary of involuntary wandering in the grip of Arctic ice. It was just a year ago the Sedoff and two other ice-breakers, the Sadko and Malgyn, were caught by the northern winter of darkness near the new Siberian Islands.

Since then the Sedoff has drifted 1,500 miles—520 of them to the north. Recently she reached 83 degrees 57 minutes north, indicating that a southward drift may have begun.

Captain Badigin reported his men keep occupied with frequent weather observations and necessary upkeep of their vessel.

They have established an emergency camp and supply depot on an ice floe 100 yards from the Sedoff, where they have unloaded provisions to sustain them for four months if it becomes necessary to abandon the ship.

Although the message from the Sedoff made part of the other vessels, the Sadko and Malgyn evidently still were locked with the Sedoff in the Arctic.

Caught in the winter ice-jam last October 23, they drifted about 250 miles in the first 10 weeks and entered a region never before visited by steamships.

Stabilizer For Cars

Makes It Impossible For A Driver To Lose Control

On a speedway a mechanic fires a gun into the front tire of a car travelling 70 miles an hour. Just as the tire explodes, the driver throws both hands into the air. But the car never swerves as it continues on its course. On a car with the new Bendix stabilizer attached to the steering tie-rod, a driver cannot lose control. Interaction of springs and hydraulic fluid in the stabilizer locks the steering mechanism for a mere fraction of a second whenever the car meets a sudden shock, thus holding the car to its true course. In the case of a blowout, this locking action is repeated many times in the course of a second, for ordinary shocks it is only temporary and, while relieving road strains, it in no way interferes with normal steering.—Reader's Digest.

Important World Films

An important step in the task of preserving important world films was disclosed in the British Film Institute's announcement of formation of an international organization to facilitate exchange of historical, educational and artistic films between various countries. The organization will be known as the International Federation of Film Archives.

Who says chickens can't swim? Trapped under a small pier when the water suddenly rose, some chickens owned by Albert Leonard at Stratford, Ont., were faced with the problem of sink or swim. They chose the latter alternative and now swim without giving it a thought.

A Sensible Suggestion

That Coronation Train Be Used For Royal Trip Across Canada

On their three weeks' visit to Canada next summer the King and Queen in their travels from coast to coast will spend most of their time on trains. In this connection a report from Ottawa says: "A train adequate for the royal party would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 without the locomotive." This appears like an outside figure, but even half of this amount seems a high price to pay for the convenience and comfort of Their Majesties. We doubt if the King and Queen would be pleased at such an outlay on their behalf.

There used to be a royal train in the Old Country; maybe it still exists. If it does, it might be placed on a boat and brought to Canada for the visit. A couple of years ago the Royal Scot was shipped to Canada, toured the Dominion and the United States and became a valuable attraction at the Chicago World's Fair.

Next year the Coronation, a still more modern train than the Royal Scot, will be brought to the United States as a display at the New York World's Fair.

Why not make arrangements to have the Coronation train come to Canada while the King and Queen are here for their use in their trip, which will likely take them into every one of the Dominion's nine provinces?—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Attracts Many People

Horse Sale Draws Lookers-On As Well As Buyers

There seems to be no way of accounting for the popularity of a horse sale. People may prefer to drive automobiles, they may prefer to work with tractors; they may prefer to ride bicycles to horses, but they just cannot be kept away from a horse sale. The one in Moose Jaw, Sask., this year was no exception; the seats were crowded with people who had no intention of buying a horse. In fact the situation became so acute that legitimate buyers could not squeeze in and the police and management went into a huddle as to the best method of ejecting the lookers-on and injecting horse buyers. The only solution would seem to be a charge for admittance, with a rebate on the first purchase.

Manitoba Appoints Committee To Secure Information

A committee of four to inquire into the practicability of a scheme of crop insurance for Manitoba was appointed by government order-in-council, Premier John Bracken announced.

The committee will inquire into the possibility of setting up some scheme of government-sponsored crop insurance against crop failure caused by other than human agencies, Premier Bracken explained.

The committee will study crop insurance now operated by the United States government.

SOUTH AFRICA RESISTS THE TREATY TO RETURN COLONIES

Windhoek, Southwest Africa.—A wide section of the population of Southwest Africa, including both English and German, is believed determined to resist any move that might be made to return the territory to Germany.

Canvass of opinion amongst South Africans indicates this section is ready to oppose by force any such colonial "deal". It is recalled that spokesmen of the Union of South Africa government have made repeated statements that the future of the territory is inalienably bound with the Union of South Africa. South African defence minister, has declared the Union would fight for Southwest Africa if necessary.

Southwest Africa is administered by the Union under a League of Nations mandate.

Opponents of transfer of the territory to Germany feel that, economically and strategically Southwest Africa is bound up with the Union of South Africa. It is recalled that, unlike Czechoslovakia, South Africa would not have to face demands from Germany, backed up by force of arms on its boundaries.

But the anti-German section is uneasy at the possibility of Germany applying pressure in the form of an economic boycott to persuade South Africa to give up the territory.

Inquiries indicate many South Africans would leave Southwest Africa if it were to be turned over to Germany. They believe Germany would treat the territory merely as a stepping-stone towards Germanization of the whole Union.

It is estimated that 40 per cent of the German-speaking South Africans are opposed to transfer of Southwest Africa to the Reich. Most of them are naturalized British subjects, either automatically or by application.

The remaining 60 per cent of the Germans are mostly unassimilated and compose chiefly recent immigrants and the younger generation.

French Peace Gesture

Believe Germany and France Can Come To Understanding

Marseille.—Premier Daladier told the congress of his own Radical-Socialist party he believed Germany and France would come to an understanding.

The premier declared there "are powerful reasons for mutual esteem" between the two countries "which must lead to loyal collaboration."

Declaring that French policy would correspond "to the elements of a new situation" in Europe, Daladier let it be understood the government would seek a greater outlet for the nation's energy in its colonial empire rather than dispute continental leadership with the Nazis.

He also asserted he believed France would find an entente with Italy.

Alberta Hail Insurance

Farmers To Receive First Payment On Claims

Calgary.—Alberta farmers will receive payment on claims from the hail insurance board soon, F. A. Hennig, manager, announced here. Cheques will be sent to 1,500 farmers. They will range in value from a few dollars to as high as $2,000.

The payments represent only half the total to be paid on hail claims. The second half will be sent out on April 1 next year in accordance with terms of the Hail Insurance Act.

"Collections have been far beyond expectation," said Mr. Hennig. "The farmers have met their obligations promptly and are giving us the best of co-operation."

Berlin.—The retiring French ambassador, Andre Francois-Poncet, was decorated with the Grand Order of the Eagle, marking the first time a Frenchman has received this honor since the award was created by Chancellor Hitler in 1936. He has been appointed envoy to Italy.

Ottawa.—National cheese week will be observed in Canada from Nov. 7 to Nov. 12, an agriculture department bulletin said. The week was inaugurated by the dairy industry of Canada to call attention to advantages of cheese as an item of food.

Negotiations Resumed

Washington.—Negotiations for a British-American trade treaty, which recently have been at a standstill, apparently were resumed when a communication from the government of the United Kingdom arrived here.

Would Stimulate Trade

Sir Edward Beatty from Possibilities In Russia, Germany And Italy

Toronto.—Sir Edward Beatty said he was eager for the success and prosperity of Russia, Germany and Italy because general economic progress was the surest way to universal peace.

"I happen to be one of those who, disapproving of the theory of Communism, sincerely hope that Russia will prosper," he continued. "My own Railway president told the Advertising and Sales club in a banquet address, 'I say that because nothing but good can come from the success and progress of one of the greatest nations of the world.'"

"Incidentally—and I trust that you will restrain your wrath—I am just as eager for the success and progress of Germany and Italy. My own philosophy does not swallow dictatorship of any kind, but I know that the surest way to peace and happiness in all the world is economic progress in all great countries."

He felt a dozen Canadian advertising men could change the whole face of Russian life in short order, "by the simple process of telling the Russians what they could buy if they had the money."

"I suppose you take the case of Germany," he continued. "My own impression is that the wonderful economic system imposed on the German people will not succeed in giving them what they have been promised. It seems to me an obvious fact that Germany, under the economic plan in force there, will experience a slow but steady decline of the standard of living."

Sir Edward believed this arose from attempts by the German state to tell the people on what to spend their money.

"If Mr. Chamberlain wants to make a really useful pact with Mr. Hitler, I suggest that he include in it some scheme by which a group of our enthusiasts could be taken to Berlin and turned loose on the innocent German consumers. I venture to suggest that within six months you would have Germany booming and thinking a great deal more of how to keep up with its people's demands for new goods and a great deal less of how to annoy surrounding nations."

Nazi Pressure On Jews

Capital Of Migrants Feeling Country Is Heavily Taxed

Berlin.—Nazi pressure to force Jews out of business and out of Germany steadily is becoming heavier.

The German press displayed reports that 50 Jews had attacked five Germans in the streets of a small town. A great deal more of how to keep up with its people's demands for new goods and a great deal less of how to annoy surrounding nations."

Hardly a day passes in which several dozens of additional Jewish businesses are being closed down. Therefore, Jewish migration has been great enough to turn a pre-Nazi law taxing the flight of capital into a gold mine.

The tax, introduced in 1932, already has netted the Nazis more than 300 million marks ($120,000,000).

"The law levies a 25 per cent. import on the wealth of any person permanently leaving Germany. In addition the Jew must leave behind up to 65 per cent of his money in blocked bank accounts. Therefore, he can emigrate only with 10 per cent, or less of his wealth."

Started Thirty Years Ago

Premier King Was Elected Liberal Member In 1908

Ottawa.—October 26 marked the 30th anniversary of the entry into Canadian political life of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, now on holiday at Kingston, Jamaica. On October 26, 1908, Mr. King was elected Liberal member for North West.

He was immediately taken into the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Prior to his engaging activity in politics, the prime minister had occupied the position of deputy minister of labor. He became a member of the House of Commons and a cabinet minister at the age of 33.

SAYS PEACE BY FEAR CAN HAVE NO LASTING QUALITY

Washington.—President Roosevelt, in a virtually unprecedented suppression of liberty, persecute Jews and use threats of war to attain national ends, issued a warning that the United States would protect the western hemisphere from interference from abroad.

Speaking from the oval room of the White House in connection with the New York Herald Tribune's forum on current affairs, Mr. Roosevelt added:

"And we affirm our faith that, whatever choice of way of life a people makes, that choice must not threaten the world with the disaster of war."

"The impact of such a disaster cannot be confined. It releases a flood-tide of evil emotions fatal to civilized living. That statement applies not to the western hemisphere alone but to the whole of Europe and Asia and Africa and the islands of the sea."

He declared that until foreign nations give the United States something more than mere verbal assurances that they desire disarmament—until disarmament discussions are actually started—this country must arm "to meet with success any application of force against us."

Without mentioning directly the recent war crisis which led to the settlement of Munich, the president declared:

"It is becoming increasingly clear that peace by fear has no higher or more enduring quality than peace by the sword."

"There can be no peace if the reign of law is to be replaced by a recurrent sanctification of sheer force."

"There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the threat of war."

Without mentioning the measures adopted against Jews by Germany and Italy, he said:

"There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the dispersion all over the world of millions of helpless and persecuted wanderers with no place to lay their heads."

And on the subject of liberty of thought and expression, he said:

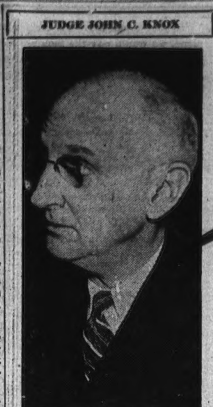

"There can be no peace if humankind declares and women are not free to think their own thoughts, to express their own feelings, to worship God."

Deploping armaments competition which "heightens the suspicions and fears and threatens the economic prosperity" of every nation, he called for the adoption of a "good neighbor" policy under which needed political changes "shall be made peacefully."

"That means a due regard for the sanctity of treaties," he said. "It means deliberate avoidance of policies which arouse fear and distrust. It means the self-restraint to refuse strident ambitions which are sure to breed insecurity and intolerance and thereby weaken the prospect of that economic and moral recovery the world so sadly needs."

The United States wants disarmament, he said, but will not disarm "while neighboring nations arm to the teeth."

"We will insist that an armament race among nations is absurd unless new territories or new controls are coveted. We are entitled, I think, to greater reassurance that can be given by words: the kind of proof which can be given, for example, by actual discussions leading to actual disarmament. Not otherwise can we be relieved of the necessity of increasing our own military and naval establishments."

The United States, he declared, does not seek to impose its form of government on any other nation, "but we are determined to maintain and protect that way of life and that form of government for ourselves."

"And we are determined to use every endeavor in order that the western hemisphere may work out its own interrelated salvation in the light of its own interrelated experience."

Drive Against Arabs

British Troops Believe They Have Situation Well In Hand

Haifa, Palestine.—Several thousand British troops began the biggest military operation in Palestine since the arrival of reinforcements, with an intention directed against Arab rebels in the districts of Acre and Galilee.

After a day of major campaigning, authorities declared they believed they now had the Arab rebels "on the run."

The commander of rebel forces had threatened to lead his men against the British if they dynamited houses in offending Arab villages. But in one village the troops left only a pile of mangled masonry after shots were fired at the soldiers.

"Your old Turkish masters would have killed you all if you had fired on the Turkish army," General J. V. Everts reminded homeless villagers.

"If you will make peace we will make peace but if you will continue to resist us we will fight you."

Everywhere there were evidences of sabotage, especially to communications, as Arabs fled.

"This sabotage was so skilfully done, and carried out so carefully that it undoubtedly was done by foreign technicians in the service of the rebels, possibly Germans," said one officer.

All Records Broken

Edmonton.—Car registrations in Alberta, including passenger cars and motor trucks, have smashed all records with a total so far this year of 102,945, according to figures issued by the provincial secretary's department.

Previous peak of 100,000 was reached during 1928-29.

BLUENOSE WINS TROPHY

The Canadian schooner Bluenose, defender of the International Fishermen's trophy, won the final race over the Gertrude L. Thebaud by a little more than two minutes. When the two schooners were sent away, members of Thebaud's crew were irate because a race was being held with such little breeze. The wind was southwesterly and of about eight miles an hour velocity.

Miss Sakamoto studied law at a night school for four years, working in the daytime as a secretary in a Japanese firm. She was born in California.

U.F.M. SAYS WEST ASKING NO FAVORS FROM THE EAST

Brandon, Man.—Recent anti-alien statements attributed to Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and Leopold Macaulay, Conservative leader in the Ontario legislature, criticizing present immigration policies, was expressed by United Farmers of Manitoba in convention here.

A resolution, most important to come before the three-day convention on the second day, expressed this sentiment and requested Manitoba farmers had for 60 years helped maintain protected industries in eastern Canada.

Continued operation of the Canadian wheat board paying a federally guaranteed minimum price was urged in the resolution adopted unanimously. Removal of tariff burdens was urged and suggestions for a wheat research institute to discover new uses for wheat contained.

A report on banking presented by R. A. Wilson of Pilot Mound, urged the Bank of Canada be empowered to bring about reduction in interest charges in western Canada. It contended the Bank of Canada should take over issue and management of the public debt of Dominion and provincial governments.

Thomas Turnbull of Winnipeg, who moved the resolution concerning minimum prices, now 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern, basis Port William, criticized Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Macaulay. "The wheat board is operated as a national policy because of failure of western Canada would mean failure of eastern Canada," Mr. Turnbull said.

"If the tariffs are not lowered to ease our production costs then the exact costs from these handicaps minimum prices, now 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern, basis Port William, criticized Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Macaulay. CANADA URGED TO STRENGTHEN HER DEFENCES

Toronto.—The defence committee of the Canadian Corps, appointed recently to investigate and report upon the position of Canada's defences, said in an interim statement that the Dominion cannot afford to lag behind other nations in carrying out adequate measures of self-protection.

The committee said "a state of emergency" exists in Canada and that delay in remedying the defects in the country's defences would be "dangerous."

The statement:

The committee, appointed for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the position of Canada's defences and the immediate problems involved in correcting the defenceless position of the country, note with satisfaction the attention expressed by the federal government to face the problem aggressively.

It is the feeling of the committee this association and the public of Canada should lend fullest co-operation in such an endeavor subject to the complete understanding that an effort be made to avoid the enrichment of a few contractors at the expense of the Canadian taxpayer.

The committee, however, views with concern the declaration that the federal government is powerless to take immediate action to cope with the urgency of having home defence proceeded with, without the sanction of parliament. It is our opinion a state of virtual emergency exists threatening "peace, order and good government" in Canada and that delay is dangerous.

The government is therefore again urged to spare no effort to commence immediately placing our defences in the position in which they should have been before the recent crisis. We know of no representative opinion in Canada opposed to such action being taken.

Victoria.—British Columbia's coastal defence guns are "as up-to-date as any in the British Empire and better than those in any European country," it is our opinion, R.C. Brown, in charge of defence works on lower Vancouver Island, told a service club luncheon here.

"The defences of this coast are and will be adequate, both the defence and anti-aircraft weapons," he said. All the guns had not been received "as England feels—and reasonably so—that her needs are more important than ours."

Accept Proposals

Czechs Willing To Arbitrate Dispute With Hungary

Budapest.—Czechoslovakia accepted Hungary's proposal that Italy and Germany arbitrate their territorial dispute, and it appeared probable the two totalitarian states would finally decide the new Czechoslovak-Hungary border.

There still were secondary differences between the stands of Prague and Budapest, however, which might still keep the dispute open.

Acceptance of the principle of arbitration by Germany and Italy was contained in Czechoslovakia's latest proposals, in reply to proposals Hungary made. The reply was considered as showing some progress, which might form the basis for further peaceful negotiations.

A foreign office spokesman said among the still existing differences was Czechoslovakia's insistence that occupation of the pure Hungarian areas wait until Germany and Italy and possibly other arbitrators decide on the occupation procedure. The spokesman described this as "unacceptable" by Hungary.

Air Mail Postage

Ottawa.—Reduction of postage rates on newspapers and periodicals carried by air mail, leaving northern districts where there is "no alternative surface mail service" was announced recently. "The new rates, effective Nov. 1, will be one cent for two ounces or a fraction of two ounces. In the case of publishers and newsdealers this may be calculated on the total weight of their mailings. The reductions amount to 50 per cent in many cases."

Provision For Unemployed

Toronto.—Unemployed single men who have no homes and are unable to claim municipal relief will be absorbed on Ontario farms under provisions of the Dominion-provincial youth training scheme, Hon. Eric Cross, provincial welfare minister, said after conference with Premier Hepburn and Hon. N. O. Hipel, labor minister.

PISTOLS AS PLAYTHINGS

Disarming children of pistols as playthings is recognized as desirable by most thoughtful parents. Yet, who has not been aroused, when walking in a park or playground, to observe children playing gangster games with toy guns? Not all are neglected slum gamins. Some are children of otherwise sensible and solicitous fathers and mothers. Of the potentially dangerous results of playing with crime there can scarcely be any question, but how to deal with it is something else again.

The Ginga County, New York, grand jury recently advocated a law prohibiting the manufacture of toy pistols used by children in their play as Dillingers or other desperadoes. Furthermore, that body would penalize parents who permit their children to flourish weapons even in play. The first recommendation might be effective if enacted and enforced, but until the making and sale of toy pistols is legally banned, intelligent recognition of the tendency of such play to lead to delinquency would be a whole-some deterrent.

Park and playground custodians, teachers and parent-teacher organizations, might well—and often do—supplement the efforts of thoughtful parents to curb such a potential menace. For thoughtless and negligent parents, legal suppression of toy weapons might be an effective method. Surely one way to curb crime at its source is to check the use, even in play, of the tools of crime in childhood.—Christian Science Monitor.

HOW TO GET ON

"Tell me how to get on in life," said the kettle.
"Take pains," said the window.
"Never be led," said the pencil.
"Do a driving business," said the hammer.
"Aspire to great things," said the nutmeg grater.
"Make light of everything," said the fire.
"Make much of small things," said the microscope.
"Never do anything offhand," said the glove.
"Reflect," said the mirror.
"Do the work you are suited for," said the chimney.
"Be sharp," said the knife.
"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.
"Try and make a good impression," said the sealing wax.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
ENLARGEMENTS

Trimming and enlarging improve a picture. Both small and large picture here were made from the same negative. Any picture can be enlarged.

DO SOME of your pictures include too much—a lot of surplus background and material at top, bottom and sides that has little or nothing to do with the subject, and injures the picture effect?

Don't despair. Such pictures can be re-enlarged. Here's how: pick out the part you want, and have just that enlarged—to the size of the original print, or even larger.

For example, look at the picture of the little girl above. The head was the interesting part. Besides, her hands were too close to the camera, and showed up too large in the finished picture. The negative was "masked" in making the enlargement so that only the head showed. Result: a much better picture.

When you get a good picture, enlarge it! Any good snap is better when it's big. Enlarging "opens up" the details—lets you see interesting things you didn't see before. And a large picture just naturally has more appeal to the eye. Give a person two pictures, equally good, and he will automatically look at the larger one first. Moreover, he will look at it longer.

Don't let small size or surplus material handicap your pictures. Any snapshot can be enlarged some what, and some, especially those made on fine-grained film, can be increased many times in size. Very likely you have pictures in your album right now that, if enlarged, would be worth framing and hanging in the home. Try it. You may discover you're a better snapshotter than you thought!

It is time the daily papers decided to drop names of persons convicted by our police courts on trivial counts. The victims pay the penalty exacted by the court, which should be considered sufficient. Their names in print constitutes a further and far greater punishment than is not coming to them. The case can be referred to without giving names.

Enactment at an early date of Alberta legislation "conforming in all main essentials" with the Natural Products Marketing Act of British Columbia, is urged upon the provincial government by the executive of the United Farmers of Alberta in a letter which has been forwarded to Premier William Aberhart. It is felt that the bringing in of such legislation will bring about the goal which producers of primary products must wish to reach—control by boards of their own choosing of the marketing of one hundred per cent of the production in any chosen commodity field.

THE OLD ORDER
CHANGETH

How far back can you remember—twenty?—thirty?—forty?—fifty years? Even if it is only ten years you can still say: "Things were different then."

Change flows over the face of everything, sometimes as imperceptibly as a rising tide, sometimes with the swift, remorseless fury of a tidal wave. Many of us have seen the far-reaching transformations wrought by war and economic breakdown.

Change is inevitable: it is a law of life. But in the life of a people it has to be controlled. It needs a balance wheel to steady it to the pace of progress; and it has a balance wheel in the weight of an informed public opinion, made possible by a free press.

Newspapers put the control of every national or local movement in the hands of the people by submitting all the news to their scrutiny and judgment. The precipitancy of the few is restrained by enlisting the interest of the many.

There will be changes in the years to come. To help you play your part in shaping them into progress, keep in touch with the news. Be informed.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—Premier William Abernethy's announcement of the "cancellation" of $3,821,000 of agricultural debts owing to the government since 1917-22 was regarded here as a straight bid for support in Athabasca, but otherwise unimportant. Those debts were written off long ago for all practical purposes, inasmuch as many of the debtors had died and many more had abandoned their farms.

It was to be expected that the little newspaper which Hon. Lucien Maynard publishes would be distributed widely among Athabasca voters, for it blazoned the happy news of the "cancellation" as a great boon to the farmers. It was all in type before the premier made his announcement public. But neither the premier nor Mr. Maynard mentioned the plan which had been offered to Alberta a little while ago and refused—the plan by which $160,000,000 of debt in Saskatchewan was cancelled by dominion and provincial governments, municipalities, banks and lending institutions. Even if the $3,821,000 cancellation to farmers here, it meant something to farmers here, it still would be tiny compared with debts written off by other agencies. For instance, the banks always are reticent, for business reasons, about what concessions they give the public and they refuse to announce figures, but it is estimated that since 1930 the banks have cancelled about $16,000,000 of private debt in Alberta. Mr. Maynard's little propaganda sheet neglected to mention this, but the same edition of it did contain headlines abusing the banks and other financial interests, without anything in the stories themselves to support the headlines.

G. L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Social Credit board, last week made a public statement which was surprising for its candor in view of the attitude which the government has adopted toward debts owing to private creditors. He said that although there is $17,000,000 owing in tax arrears, the government does not consider it necessary or beneficial to wipe out these arrears.

"That would leave no assets," he said. "The people do not want to avoid their debts; they want to be shown how they can pay. To wipe out the debt would work a hardship on the people who have invested."

Mr. MacLachlan said that statement during a plea for support of the "treasury branches," which the government has set up to operate, in effect, as private banks. He said that he was unable to promise that the bonus to purchasers of Alberta-made goods would be the three per cent that has been talked about, after all. He indicated that the government is still looking for some way to get the money to pay the bonuses, but he was quite sure that new taxes would not be levied to meet them. A compilation of figures, meanwhile, showed that only about four per cent of merchants in the chief centres of the province have agreed to handle the treasury branch cheques or vouchers.

The treasury branch idea seems to be dead already, despite the banks' offer of co-operation. The special session of the legislature, which has been called for Nov. 15th, is giving rise to many rumors about plans for legislation; about trouble brewing among Social Credit members against the premier, and about the possibility of a general election being not far away.

"Say, I had a beard like yours once, and when I realized how it made me look, I cut it off."

"Well, I had a face like your once, and when I realized I couldn't cut it off, I grew this beard."

The saddest story of the month was about the too-observant Blaimore fellow who remarked to his girl: "Your stockings seem rather wrinkled."

"You brute!" exclaimed the girl. "I have no stockings on!"

HE'S AT PEACE, DEAR MOTHER

There's so little a friend can do or say,

When a mother's son is called away;

When she remembers what her dear boy said,

Or tells me about her boy—who's dead—

I strive to keep back my tears and know

She will weep by herself, after I go.

A mother's aching heart—in tears—

Remembers so clearly down the years;

I wish there was some way friends

could bear

A part of each mother's lone despair.

Those mothers love, suffer and know

The heights of joy, and the depths of woe.

Oh, when memory murmurs of folly by days;

While she cradles her arms and softly sways;

May God be near—and when memory leaves—

To comfort the loving heart which grieves!

May the Angels chant from their Home above

He's at Peace, dear mother, within

God's love.

—M. Josephine Turner.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mrs. J. Cousins, of Ruby Creek, B. C., is visiting at the home of her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. J. McLean.

Misses Margaret Coupland and Susie Boyle were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the Catholic hall on Thursday last, in honor of Miss Frida Wolstenholme, bride-elect of November. The evening was spent at cards, prizes for which were won by Mrs. G. Koentges and Miss Bessie Davies (Hillcrest). Following luncheon, the guest of honor was presented with numerous beautiful and useful gifts, for which she thanked her friends appropriately. The party dispersed about midnight with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The tea and sale of fancy work, home cooking and candy, held Wednesday afternoon in the L.O.O.F. hall under auspices of Ray of Hope Rebekah Lodge, was very well attended. The members of the lodge wish to thank all who helped to make the affair a success.

The masquerade dance held in the L.O.O.F. hall on Friday evening under auspices of the Oddfellows' lodge, was very well attended, with numerous costumes giving the judges quite a task to decide the winners. Judges were Mesdames H. Harrison, W. Goodwin, N. Spooner and R. Hughes, and Mr. I. Haysom. The following were prize winners: best dressed lady, Miss A. Martin, Hillcrest, as a Spanish senorita; best dressed gent, Mr. Joe Pozzi, Blaimore, as a foreign officer; most original lady, Miss Charlotte Strauch, as a Slavonic peasant girl; most original gentleman, Mr. B. Goodwin, as a pirate. There being no comic lady in competition, the judges decided to award that prize to the next most original costume, and that was "The Nabob Man," Mr. J. Morris; the most comely gentleman, Miss Ruby Cousins, as a ragman. Following the presentation of prizes, dancing was enjoyed till 2:30 to music by Hasek's Revelers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Radford, senior, Miss Jessie and James, accompanied by Mrs. H. Kaye, were called to Winnipeg on Saturday afternoon, owing to the death of Thomas Bradley, son of Mrs. Kaye and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Radford. Tommy was well known in Bellevue, having lived here most of his life, moving to Winnipeg about eight years ago, where he secured a position with the Robin Motors, with whom he was employed up to the time of his death. No details of his death are obtainable, except that it was through an automobile accident some ten miles out of the city.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Dick Graham, of Pincher Creek, paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gunn on Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Swart and son Gordon were Wednesday visitors to Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cleland and sons Roy and Dennis, of Vauxhall, were week-end visitors with relatives and friends here.

A Halloween party was staged in the Cowley school on Tuesday afternoon. After an interesting program, prizes were awarded to Lance Welsh, for best costume, and to Elaine Matthews and Isobel Pap for best comic costumes.

After discontinuing the meetings of the Home Helpers' Club for the summer months, the first meeting of the fall and winter season was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Littleton on Thursday last. After the meeting, the gentlemen joined the ladies in the first of a series of five hundred games, for which prizes will be awarded at the close of the series. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Porter on Thursday, November 24th.

A very successful fund, in aid of the Christmas Tree fund, was held at the Todd Creek school house on Friday night last.

church were entertained at their monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon, November 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Cleland. At this meeting a collection of several dollars was taken, to be given as a donation toward the mission fund.

Threshing in this district will be finished this week. Throughout the harvesting and threshing here we have been blessed with favorable weather most of the time, with only a few days' holdup now and then by rain showers. To date there has been a quarter of a million bushels of wheat moved into the Cowley elevators, with almost a hundred per cent of it grading number one. There still is considerable stored in the granaries.

The Athabasca by-election on Monday next is being looked forward to with interest. But two candidates, Liberal and Social Credit, are in the contest.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

J. Ironmonger, senior, is visiting in Calgary this week.

Miss Gwen Hamulick, of Cranbrook, is visiting at the home of her parents here.

A very delightful Halloween party was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Moser, when Master Teddy Moser entertained a number of his friends.

The St. John Ambulance Association classes in First Aid have been started by Mr. A. Mark for the winter months.

A successful carnival was held in the Hillcrest gym on Saturday and Monday evenings.

The death occurred on Tuesday of Mrs. O. Lofstrand, following a lengthy illness. She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters, all living in Hillcrest.

More "experts" are being imported.

KEEP FAITH

Away 'neath Flanders' Fields they be,
And 'neath the biting deep
While day and night o'er all the world
Their loved ones yearn and weep.

They died; and yet their spirit lives,
Reminding us to cease
All warfare, and keep faith with them;
They died at war, for Peace.

All praise to those brave Heroes;
All shame to those who dare
Break faith with them, with Flanders' Fields.
Those crosses white and bare.

Oh! on this day unite in prayer,
And may the Prince of Peace
Grant what you ask in their dear name,
That carnage, war, shall cease.

Sisters, daughters, widows, mothers,
You fatherless young men,
Keep faith, keep faith, they are calling;
Keep faith, keep faith, Amen.

—M. Josephine Turner.

Halloween passed off quietly in Blaimore. As usual, the little tots had a merry night and in many cases appeared spooky. Some of the bigger boys engaged in the regular pranks, but the joy of that was marred by their having to replace things on the following day under police supervision. Among the Halloween festivities was a largely attended dance in the Oliva hall.

Three deaf men were motoring in England. As they approached a town, one said: "Isn't this Wembley?"

"No," another answered, "this is Thursday."

"So am I," contributed the third.

"Let's go into this tavern."

At school for the first time, the small boy started to sob bitterly.

"What's the matter, Willie?" asked the teacher.

"Please, Miss, I don't like school, and I've got to stay here till I'm fourteen."

"Don't worry about that," said the teacher. "Look at me. I've got to stay here till I'm sixty-five."

Ships With Old Names

British Battleships That Have Had A Long History

In the naming of new battleships there has been a reversion to former practice, earlier post-war ships of this class having been named either after members of the royal family or after distinguished admirals. Lion, Temeraire, and also Implacable are famous names of ships of the line in the old sailing navy, and their revival should be popular.

Fifteen ships have been called the Lion since the early sixteenth century, and the last, which was the battle-cruiser flagship throughout the war of 1914-18, was disposed of in accordance with the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922, as were the Temeraire, a battleship which had also served in the Grand Fleet throughout the war. It is just a century ago that the towing of the Trafalgar Temeraire to be broken up inspired Turner's famous picture.

Two ships have been called Implacable, the first, which fought on the French side at Trafalgar as the Duguay-Trouin and was captured later, being still in existence as a youths' training ship at Portsmouth—London Times.

Study World Problems Canadian Institute Of International Affairs Issues Report

There never was a time "when an understanding of international affairs was more urgently needed than it is today," R. J. Tarr of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, declares in a preface to the report of the institute's work in 1937-38.

The Canadian institute, founded in 1928, is an unofficial and non-partisan national organization with branches in 16 of the principal Canadian cities. Its object is to encourage study of international affairs in Canada.

Membership increased from 885 to 1,061 during the year. Branches held 221 private and confidential meetings as well as 87 meetings of small study groups. Mr. Tarr said the institute continued to follow "what will probably always be its primary purpose, that is, the enlightenment of its own members in the field of international relations, particularly as they relate to Canada."

The report referred to publication during the year of four books dealing with Canadian problems. Four books will be published within the next six months.

Primary function of the institute, the report stressed, is to help individual members clarify their views on international questions. Emphasis is laid on activities of branches, including confidential general meetings where there is ample opportunity for discussion. Other principal activities include conferences—regional, national, intra-commonwealth and international.

The institute's activities are financed out of membership fees, special subscriptions and grants from the Massey Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation.

Salvage Company Knows Exactly Where To Look For Necklaces

The Boston Globe says a lady who read in her paper that Simon Lake was planning to make an attempt to salvage the Lusitania's cargo lost no time in communicating with the inventor, telling him that she lost a $10,000 necklace on the Lusitania which she would so much like to have. Mr. Lake brought back to her. She gave Lake full directions for locating it. He had only to look under the pillow in her bed in stateroom 357, deck B.

Was Given A Chance

And Young Writer Proved Editor Did Not Make Mistake

The managing editor of Messrs. Chapman and Hall, publishers, sat at his desk and pondered, says Vansant Corryell, in Christian Science Monitor. He pursued his lips and looked doubtful. The young man sitting across from him was speaking very earnestly. The managing editor could not help feeling that there was sense in what he was saying. But, thought the managing editor, he is such a young man. Not over three and twenty.

"What I have been writing," the young man was saying, "has been little more than a running comment. Mr. Seymour's drawings. It would be much better if you would let me think up the ideas and let Mr. Seymour illustrate my text."

"But," interrupted the managing editor, "that isn't the way those things are done. Mr. Seymour is a great artist. It is his name and his pictures which sell." He smiled tolerantly at the young man. "You are just a beginning writer. You should be more than content to be allowed to write these marginal sketches for such a great artist as Mr. Seymour. He may be the making of you."

"Or I can," the young man said under his breath. Out loud he said, "Give me a try, sir. I'm sure I have some excellent ideas."

"Very well," the managing editor said impulsively. "Go ahead."

A few days later he looked upon the fruits of the young man's efforts: the first proofs of "Pickwick Papers" by Charles Dickens.

From Buggies To Autos

Do people realize how many men are engaged in Canada and the United States in the manufacturing of automobiles as compared to those engaged at the turn of the century in building buggies? The proportion runs well over 100 to one, say about 6,500,000 to 65,000, and this is only 38 years.

Playing Safe

In Vienna, says Neal O'Hara in the New York Post, the story now being whispered is of a local merchant who was asked how his business was going. "Things used to be very good," he reported, "and now, of course, they're excellent. But things were better when they were just very good."

The average lifetime of an automobile is seven and one-half years.

The Human Eye

Science Discovers That They Are Powerful Electric Batteries

Human eyes are powerful electric batteries. This discovery, showing that each eyeball is an independent battery, was announced to the National Academy of Sciences by Dr. Walter R. Miles. Yale university psychologist.

Each eye produces a current averaging 1.000th volt, an electrical energy equal to that of the heart beats which make the recordings of electrocardiographs. Numerous eyes, Dr. Miles found, average 1.000th volt, one gave 1.000th volt.

The Yale experiments show the electric potential of an eye varies with at least some diseases, both eye troubles and general. But Dr. Miles said it was not yet possible to say whether the electrical variations would be useful for eye troubles.

The fact that eyes produce electricity has been known to science since 1860, when it was discovered in frogs, but the source of this electric power, just a beginning writer. You should be more than content to be allowed to write these marginal sketches for such a great artist as Mr. Seymour. He may be the making of you."

"Or I can," the young man said under his breath. Out loud he said, "Give me a try, sir. I'm sure I have some excellent ideas."

Fares On Royal Train

Return Trip From London To Glasgow Costs The King $1,350

When King George VI. uses the Royal Train in Great Britain, he pays certain fees, states W. L. Clark, in Windsor Star. For instance, if he makes a trip to Glasgow, he pays first-class fares for everyone in the royal entourage. The fare is 105 shillings, sixpence each return. He also pays 13 shillings, fourpence extra per mile.

This would make the cost for the King alone on a return trip from London to Glasgow figure out at $1,350.

It has just been demonstrated that a stretched rubber band snaps at a speed of only 204 miles an hour, thereby proving conclusively that that British racing driver went to beat the band.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON NOVEMBER 6

HONORING OUR PARENTS

Golden text: Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee. Exodus 20:12. Lesson: Exodus 20:12; Luke 2:46-51; John 19:26, 27; Ephesians 6:1-4. Devotional reading: Proverbs 3:1-7.

Explanations And Comments

The Fifth Commandment: Honor thy Father and thy Mother, Exodus 20:12. Love and respect your parents. That they days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee. This promise of length of days is not so much a promise for the individual Israelite as it is for the nation itself. Such a relationship between children and parents will be good for the national life, will conduce to the virility and stability of the people as a whole and will make for the long life and prosperity of the nation. A prosperous national life is dependent upon respect for authority. Few peoples have lived up to this commandment as have the Jews. The family has been central with them much more than with some other races, and no doubt the secret of their persistence as a people and the longevity of their racial spirit have largely their explanation here. A right relationship between parents and children is a virtue that brings many other virtues in its train. An unhappy home, in which parents and children are at continual cross-purposes will be a menace to the moral health of the community.

"The parent who does not secure the allegiance and obedience of the child is as really violating the fifth commandment as the child who dishonors and disobeys him" (William M. Taylor).

Jesus Honored His Mother, John 19:26, 27. In the hour of his great agony on the cross Jesus looked upon his mother and upon John, "the disciple whom he loved," and said to his mother, "Woman, behold thy son!" The "Woman" here translated "Woman" is a title of respect. Dr. P. B. Meyer suggests that Jesus would not call Mary his "mother" lest identification with himself might expose her to insult. And to John, Jesus said, "Behold thy mother!" Thereafter Mary was cared for by John as she would have been cared for by her own son.

Sea Mystery

Court Of Inquiry Reaches Conclusions Regarding Fate Of Vessel

A government court of inquiry probing one of the deepest mysteries of the sea has decided the British freighter Anglo-Australian, missing seven months, probably broke in half "from deck to keel" after her sheltered deck buckled.

The 5,456-ton vessel, carrying a crew of 39, disappeared last March in mid-Atlantic while on a voyage from England to Vancouver. She was last reported off the Azores, March 14. No trace of her has been found. The court of inquiry pointed out that more than half the freighter's deadweight was concentrated amidships. It decided that it was patently an explosion or collision on the high seas caused the tragedy.

Gasoline Stove

A New One-Burner Gasoline Stove Now On The Market

There's always been a demand for a one-burner gasoline stove with the advantages of the larger outfits. Now there's one on the market—manufactured in Canada—that's been tested in foreign countries before being offered here.

In its completely new form it is known as the Coleman Speed Master, and beside lightness is safe, windproof, silent and odorless. It stands over 200 lbs. pressure in its triple nickel-plated, rustproof brass font.

Ask your Coleman dealer to show you the new one-burner Speed Master.

New Industry Established

England's Flea Farms Provide Food For Tropical Fish

A new industry—flea farms to provide food for ornamental fish—has been established in England.

The flea farms are in the country far from London and were set up after it was accidentally discovered that fleas can be kept frozen for some time without harm.

Frozen fleas look rather like brown sugar. "Fleas in aspic," they are called. Six cents' worth, spread on fine gauze, contains thousands of fleas. Thrown into the warm waters of the tank, they soon come to life. They are considered to be the best food for tropical fish.

SHE COULD NEITHER WALK NOR SLEEP

Arms and Feet Swollen With Rheumatism

This woman suffered for many years. Pain sapped her strength until she lost hope of recovery. Many remedies were tried, but nothing broke the grip of her crippling rheumatism. At last her husband persuaded her to try Kruschen Salt.

"My arms and feet were swollen with rheumatism," she writes. "I couldn't walk nor get regular sleep, and nothing did me any lasting good. I was so hopeless of ever getting better, I lost my good nature entirely. Then my husband persuaded me to try Kruschen Salt. After two weeks I began to feel better. I persevered, and in six weeks I was doing housework. Later, I was able to go for a walk, I could produce free from pain, and I feel grand."—(Mrs.) F.W.

Rheumatism is commonly caused by deposits of uric acid crystals, which lodge in the muscles and joints. Kruschen helps to break up these deposits of troubling crystals and to convert them into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channel—the kidneys.

TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

by DR. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

THE COMMON COLD

If the sum total of suffering, inconvenience, sequelae and economic loss from common colds be obtained, it would at once elevate these infections from the trivial into the rank of the serious diseases. The autumn is the time for one to three colds a year. One attack produces little immunity. It is a group of acute infections of the mucous (lining) membranes of the throat and nose, often extending into the sinuses and larger bronchi. The sinuses, that is the hollow spaces adjacent to the nose, are frequently involved in the infection, and may be called rhinitis; it may affect the throat as in tonsillitis or as a pharyngitis; the larynx as a laryngitis and the bronchial tubes as a bronchitis.

The popular idea that a cold is due to a draft is scarcely correct. Exposure to drafts, sudden changes of temperature and larger bronchi are predisposing causes of colds, but no cold can originate without the special microorganisms or bug which is the essential cause.

Some say that a common cold is due to a germ, as in a germ so small that it cannot be seen under the microscope. Many different germs seem to be associated with colds. Perhaps the cause is a combination of viruses and germs. Common colds may not be a single disease but rather a group of infections which may vary in severity and catchability.

Colds are caught from other persons having colds just as diphtheria is contracted from diphtheria patients, scarlet fever from scarlet fever patients, and so on. The conditions popularly supposed to produce colds, do not suffer from these ailments until they return to civilization and become infected by contact with their fellows.

The two really important matters about colds are, first their prevention and second, their cure. Prevention may be summed up in the avoidance of those having an infection, especially in street cars, offices and other crowded places. Colds, like the other diseases conveyed in the secretions from nose and mouth, are often transferred by direct and indirect contact through kissing, the drinking cup, the roller towel, pipes, towels, fingers, food and other objects contaminated with the fresh secretions which carry the disease. Villal air, drafts, dust, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to cold and wet, overwork, loss of sleep and improper food all have some effect in causing colds. It must be admitted on the other hand that the most vigorous will contract colds if they receive the infection, while some persons are so immune that they appear to resist attacks of colds year after year.

Persons with colds should at once go to bed and rest. There is no reason why there is any reason in temperature. Methods of cure had best be left to the doctor. Some people, however, fail to bed, to hot bath and a drink of whiskey. Others use vaccines. There is one vaccine, namely that prepared by Rosenow, which, taken by mouth in doses of ten drops once a week, is said to prevent the onset of a cold, and taken daily in the course of a cold seems to break it up. It is worth trying.

HEADACHE EASED QUICKLY

Simple Method Shown Here
Brings Relief in Few Minutes

1. Take 2 "Aspirin" Tablets with a full glass of water the moment you feel headache coming on.

2. You should feel relief very quickly. If pain is unusually severe, repeat according to directions.

To ease a headache with amazing speed, simply follow the easy "Aspirin" way shown above. Relief often comes within a few minutes.

If it may should fall—see your doctor. He will find the cause and correct it. While there, ask him about taking "Aspirin" to relieve headache and rheumatic pains. We believe he will tell you there is no more effective, more dependable way normal persons may use.

Exhibit Of Needlework

Some Pieces Shown In England Were Five Centuries Old

An earl who has made a name for himself in needlework—Lord Spencer—opened an exhibition of five centuries of needlework at Stoney Thorpe Hall, in Warwickshire.

Both he and his wife, who is a lady-in-waiting to the Queen, showed pieces that they have done. Queen Elizabeth were gardening aprons. One of them, with accompanying gloves and belt, had been lent. It is embroidered with flowers upside down so that Queen Elizabeth saw them the right way when she stooped.

Victorian needlework, including a nightgown six yards round embroidered with crown and monogram for Queen Victoria, was so well represented that it had a section to itself. A former Lady Newdegate's pretence, stools were described. Lady Newdegate was untidy and left things about. She made stool tops depicting misadventures from music sheets to gardening shears, hoping to cure herself by this penance of her bad habit.

Getting Back To Work

Henry Ford Paints A Bright Picture Of Business Outlook

Henry Ford painted a bright picture of the business outlook in an interview at Detroit, predicting a prosperous 1939 and expressing the belief there would be no major European war.

Business, he said, already is on the upgrade, and distinctly better times are on the way.

He cited "better feeling among the public generally" in support of his forecast.

"People are tired of the many 'times' that have developed in the last five years," he said. "They are getting back to work, and work spells prosperity."

CHAPTER VI.—Continued

A strange madness overpowered Hammond. He did not know why he insisted; he only realized that his face was hot and his veins pounding. "Give me that paper," he said thinly. There was something terrible about his eyes. Slowly the girl passed it over to him. His hands shook as he unfolded it, revealing its curt message:

"I.O.U."

"Lew," "I thought so," said Hammond, and turned for the door. Jeanne moved desperately, catching him by the arm.

"Jack! Wait! Wait!" "Why wait?" he asked. "I'm going after Jeannette Terry."

But she blocked him, frantic, both hands against his chest.

"Oh, don't," she gasped. "Please don't—please don't!"

Jack Hammond could not believe her.

"You're not going to let Lew Snade get away with a robbery?"

"I don't see anything else to do," Jeanne answered hopefully.

"But—" vaguely Jack realized that he was discussing a situation of which he really knew nothing. "You can't do that. He stole your money!"

The girl sank against the counter. "I simply can't go to the police. I guess that's why he left it I.O.U."

"So I'd know who he did it and not make a report."

"Why not?"

She rubbed her hands. "He still uses his own name."

"What of it?"

"He still faints."

"I've changed mine," came at last. "If I had to prosecute him and they took him out to Fourcross—don't you understand?" Plainly Hammond did not and evidenced it. The girl added, in a colorless voice, "If it should ever get back home that Lew Snade had been arrested for stealing money from a girl—somebody would figure out the right name of that girl."

Again there was silence. At last Hammond began to pace the narrow confine between the door and the counter. Then Jeanne said:

"I'd hoped you'd never have to know about him."

"I don't—if you put it that way."

But she had straightened now, her chin lifted with determination.

"I'll feel better if you do know."

He caught her by the arms, clutching them tight.

"Look here!" he asked. "Do you think anything could change my feeling about you—my friendship? Do you? If that's the case, don't tell me. I don't want to know."

"You all persons have the right to know."

She freed herself and walked past him to the door, closing it. Then she turned, leaned her back against it, as though she would give her needed strength. Suddenly she drew back. A voice had come from outside:

"Hey, Jeanne! What's the idea? Shuttin' that door?"

Involuntarily she opened it. A miner entered from Kay's claim.

"Oh," he exclaimed. "I didn't know you were here, Mr. Hammond."

"Yes, I'm here." It was banal—but there was nothing else to say.

"Miss Kay thought you'd forgotten them nails."

"No—but while you're here, take them," Hammond claved a double handful of spikes from the keg and passed them to the miner.

"Tell Miss Kay I'll be down after a while," he commanded.

"Sure," the miner answered and started away.

"Jeanne, why can't I go to Terry about this man? He's handle it confidentially. Certainly, we've got to do something."

"Not necessarily."

"Why not? What right had he to come here and take money?"

"It gets to be a habit, after a while." There was no sarcasm in the statement, only resignation.

"I can't see it. Look here, you've made a start for yourself up here in the North. This fellow can't come out of your past and wreck it, no matter what the trouble—"

"The trouble is," she supplied dully, "that I'm tied to him."

"Married?"

"Worse than that."

"That's none of my business, Jeanne."

She rested her hand on the counter. "It is, Jack. The subject's been opened. You might as well have it all. Lew and I were kids together in The Pas. You know where that is?"

"Yes—in Northern Manitoba. Quite a town now, with all those mines opening up."

"My father ran a trading store there. It was as though she were in a witness chair. "Neither Father nor Mother liked Lew. I worked in the trading store, especially when Father was up North. Well, this time he had to go into the Arctic circle to trade with the Eskimos. Before he left, he told me that I was to go to the annual fur auction in Winnipeg for him; I know fur. So I went and took $3,000 with me."

"In currency?" Hammond had begun to see ahead.

"Yes. Father liked cash. Lew followed me down there. I was terribly in love with him." She must have caught the look in Hammond's eyes. "Oh, he's changed so much—all in a year. Guess getting hold of that money did something to him."

"Evidently. So, after he met you in Winnipeg—?"

"So—well—he spread her hands."

"I know," Hammond was trying to make it easier for her. "You were away where nobody would know—and you loved him—and life seemed something terribly precious that wouldn't last."

"Thinks," the girl answered.

"And, too, I suppose he pulled the old gag—that was the use of worrying your parents by getting married, to say nothing of his poor old mother, who'd never survive the shock."

"No, Mr. Barstow had to tell me that he'd skipped out. That's when I first saw you—coming down the stairs from Mr. Barstow's office."

"I guess I know the rest. You haven't talked to him up here?"

"The girl glanced at the I. O. U. where Hammond had tossed it.

"That's all," she said slowly. "I don't even know how he got here."

"He came up with the last bunch from Fourcross—got in the same night as Bruce Kenning. I know something more. He's going to give you back that money."

"Don't go to Sergeant Terry! Please! You know how news is—the kind that comes out of a new mining camp. It goes all over. If Terry ever took him down to Fourcross—"

"Jack Hammond thrust his hand to her shoulder and gently pushed her away.

"I'm not going to Terry!" he announced.

Almost before he realized it, he was there in the store and stalking the crooked streets of the little town, head forward, a queer, ugly swing to his shoulders, as he searched the territory of tents and shacks. Then he turned down to the lake where Timmy Moon, grimy with oil, was working on his airplane.

"Seen Lew Snade?" he asked.

"Without waiting for an answer. "Where does he usually hang out? Anywhere around this camp? Does he work for Around the World Annie?"

"Give a guy time," growled Timmy. "I just saw him walking up Loon creek, with Bruce Kenning."

(To Be Continued)

"I'm Not Trying to Say I Was Led Around."

"In this case, it was his crippled plater," Jeanne supplied without bitterness. "Oh," she supplemented suddenly. "I'm not trying to say I was led around. Did you ever spend the best part of your life in a place like The Pas? Not the town that it is now—but the one like it used to be?"

"How did Lew Snade get his hands on that money?" Hammond asked bluntly. He felt queerly feverish. The girl went on:

"There wasn't anything at the Winnipeg auction worth buying. Lew argued that we ought to go on to Edmonton—there would be an auction there in about ten days. I wrote home what had happened, about the auction I mean. Then we went to Edmonton. Lew's money was gone. I began to cut into the cash I'd brought along, then one afternoon Lew pretended to come the money to be sure it was all there. I wasn't looking. He shouted that a hundred-dollar bill had flown out an open window."

"Of course you never found it."

She smiled faintly.

"I found the place later where he had lost it gambling. Of course, I didn't know that then. I began to worry about making up our expenses and that hundred dollars. Lew said he had a friend in Vancouver who wanted to sell out his stock of furs. I let him argue me into believing that he knew enough about the fur business to get and buy out this stock and make enough on it to cover all our losses."

She was silent. Hammond waited a moment.

"Well," he asked at last.

"That's all," came tonelessly.

"He stole the money and deserted you?" asked the man. His hands were trembling.

"I worked at anything I could get in Edmonton until I earned enough for second-class fare to Vancouver. The man in the fur store said he'd never even heard of Lew Snade. I couldn't find a job in Vancouver; finally I got one for a single trip on the Prince Rupert boat, working in the dining room."

"You kept on looking for Snade?"

"I'd been to every dance hall in Vancouver and every gambling joint. Someone remembered him and said he'd gone North. So I kept on asking questions after I got on the boat."

One of the girls said she knew him; that he'd gotten her to sneak out after hours and meet him on deck. When I got to Prince Rupert, I asked about a lawyer and someone suggested Mr. Barstow. I was afraid to go to the police."

"Because of your people—"

"I told Mr. Barstow I'd pay him a percentage on any money he could get back for me. But he said no—"

"Barstow's that kind."

"I lived where I could; for a while I was in Al Mason's store. I was there for nearly two months, but Mr. Barstow couldn't get any trace of Lew. Then one day, he called me and said Lew was in town—he'd been in Alaska and just come back. I don't know how he found out."

"Barstow knows every ship captain and cabin boy in Prince Rupert."

"I guess that was it. He said Lew had promised to come to his office the next morning and pay back every cent. So I went there. But—"

"He didn't show up," Hammond interjected coldly.

"No, Mr. Barstow had to tell me that he'd skipped out. That's when I first saw you—coming down the stairs from Mr. Barstow's office."

"I guess I know the rest. You haven't talked to him up here?"

Spirit Of Goodwill

British Scientist Speaks Of Qualities Needed To Build Strong Structures

Sir William Glegg, one of Britain's leading scientists, urges the nation to find, first of all, internal reconciliation, and that goodwill must not now be damaged by encouragement of suspicion, malicious interpretation and ignorant criticism.

"Policy, foreign as well as domestic, is for every nation ultimately determined by the character of her people and the inspiration of her leaders," declared Sir William Glegg, on moral rearmament. "The strength of a nation consists in the vitality of her principles. How can we bring about that permanent peace needed to build a social structure in which every part is of use and in which every member of the community feels cared for and wanted?"

"Moral rearmament means an experiment with the principles of Christ. It means a new fitness in our work, our body and our brain. We must put aside sternly every indulgence that clouds our vision and weakens our power. Clearly, the experiment will be spoiled if we damage goodwill by encouraging suspicion, malicious interpretation and ignorant criticism. Now is the time to pull ourselves together. We see the efficiency of authoritarian states and realize once again the power of discipline and common purpose. But our service must be voluntary, not forced, yet full and ready as if ordered by a dictator. The nearer we, as a nation, come to internal reconciliation, the more effective we shall be in arranging a reconciliation which is external and international and the nearer will be the day when all defences can come down. We do not know how far away this day is. We only know it will come if we work and fight for it."

Good Musical Conductor

Sir Henry Wood Also Has Three Other Professions

Sir Henry Wood, of London, who has commemorated his fiftieth as a conductor of music, intended taking up singing professionally at first. He was advised otherwise by a musical friend, who told him: "Never take up singing, Henry. You have a conductor's voice. It will go through a brick wall." Sir Henry has three unusual hobbies for a musician. He is an expert carpenter, an equally expert plumber, and is also something of a painter. He has a library of 4,000 books and claims to have the finest collection of music in the world.

Seed Potatoes From Canada

Canada supplied approximately half of the 2,000,000 bushels of certified seed potatoes sold in the Argentine last fall. In Uruguay, 13,630 crates of the total 85,024 crates (of 140 pounds net) of the seed potatoes imported for the crop planted in January, February, 1938, were also supplied by Canada.

Beans are not usually looked upon as poultry feed, but cull beans are sometimes fed. It is best to cook the beans and feed them as part of a wet mash, similar to the way potatoes are fed.

Target Practice

U.S. Army Anti-Aircraft Batteries Prove Effective

United States army anti-aircraft batteries near Honolulu have been so thoroughly shooting up sleeve targets at 17,000 feet, supposedly the "ceiling" for that type of practice, that their officers have concluded they would be able to sweep Hawaiian skies clear of any enemy planes.

Coast artillery batteries have been scoring six or more hits in 20 shots at targets speeding 180 miles an hour behind high climbing military planes. One hit in 20 has been considered good marksmanship for three-inch anti-aircraft guns.

The 37,000 feet represented the highest altitude reachable by a plane towing a target, a cylindrical canvas affair attached to a towing plane by a line 5,000 feet long.

May Appoint Commissioners

The Irish government is considering appointment of high commissioners to represent its interests in Canada, South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand, it was reported. Eire has no official representatives in the dominions, although it is represented in London by a high commissioner.

The bathysphere, curious globe in which William Beebe reached an ocean depth of 3,028 feet in 1937, was subjected to a pressure of about 5,800 tons at the lowest level.

The larger whales in the prime of life weigh more than 100 pounds in weight every day.

New Airplane Device

Would Land Plane Safely Without Aid Of Human Pilot

An airplane could land without the aid of a human pilot, if a patent just received by the United States government proves workable.

The new system would provide automatic control for airplanes landing. The pilot would set the apparatus for action six or seven miles from the field and the device would do the rest.

Its functions include regulating the speed, making adjustments for crosswinds and vertical currents, and finally putting on the brakes and bringing the plane to a stop at the spot desired. Five radio beams would be focused on the craft to guide it to a landing.

Frank Dumore, senior radio engineer at the United States bureau of standards, contributed the basic ideas for the invention.

All nations have a primary interest in peace with justice, in economic well-being with stability, and in conditions of order under law.—Cordell Hull.

One of our reporters was discussing the cause of baldness with the doctor one day recently, when the reporter stated: "Women are very rarely bald, but men are frequently so. What is it that men do to their heads that women don't do?"

Doc: "They use them."

Our reporter is still unconscious.

Sunday school pupils of the Regular Baptist church were treated to a Halloween party on Monday night.

Blaimore high school pupils and friends held a successful Halloween party in the Oliva hall on Monday night.

Mrs. J. B. Harmer returned on Monday from Lethbridge, where she spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. W. Porter.

The best cure for "class conflict" is prosperity. People don't hate the class above them when they have reasonable hope of getting into it.

DEC. 3rd—This is THE DATE to remember. Annual sale, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Blaimore United church. Particulars later.

The Grande Prairie Retail Merchants' Association, at a full meeting, went on record by resolution that while they are in sympathy with the avowed objective of increasing the sale of Alberta goods, they do not agree that the establishment of treasury branches is the method of attaining this end; that they are satisfied with the present banking facilities and consider treasury branch contracts unnecessary.

Frank Vernon, bandmaster, hopes to bring his new Fernie Little Symphony Orchestra to Blaimore for the musical festival next May, in addition to his prize senior band. The latter has been invited to appear at Vancouver exposition next summer.

A friend of ours from Lundbreck called at the office on Saturday afternoon. Seeing a copy of Alberta's famous brief on the floor, he picked it up, brushed off the dust and remarked: "What a beautiful cover—if it only contained something!"

Talking about the various forms of gambling, is it not true that thousands of people in Alberta, both men and women, gambled away their votes in the 1935 provincial election for a Social Credit dividend of $25.00 a month. Many Social Credit candidates, who are now members, raised the ante much higher than $25.00, but the people have lost their bet.—The Drumheller Review.

Mrs. Florence Hayes and her two daughters, Kathleen and Dorothy, of Vancouver, who left the coast city last spring on a hitch-hiking trip to Halifax, passed west through the Crow last week end. On reaching Vancouver they will have completed some 12,000 miles, and stated they had received many courtesies from coast to coast. Passing through Macleod in July last, they had a watch stolen from them in the washroom of a cafe, which was later recovered and returned to them.

At a meeting of hockey enthusiasts held in the community hall at Hillcrest on Thursday evening last, the intermediate hockey club was reorganized with Harry Stobbs as president, Ricardo D'Amico as secretary, and R. Henderson, B. Richards, John Elick, Cyril Richards and Kenneth Thornton as finance committee. G. E. Cruickshank was chosen manager of the team, with R. Henderson as the coach. It was made clear that Hillcrest was out for an excellent brand of hockey this coming season. It is hoped that a junior club will also be formed. The rink is being made in readiness by Donald Thornton.

Lethbridge staged a tax sale on Monday, when not a bid was received.

The stories we had to read at the back of the barn as kids now come in on the radio.

For one full day several newspapers in Alberta managed to forget Mr. Aberhart.

Owing to Friday next being Armistice Day, The Enterprise will be published on Thursday. Advertisers and correspondents kindly note this.

For most people Sunday is a day of rest. For one big guy in Alberta it's the busiest and most terrible day of the week—Armageddon.

Frank Vernon, who has been acting as temporary postmaster at Fernie for the past six months, has received the appointment permanently.

Cause for Canada re-armament: "If the people of Mars are so determined to bomb Canada or the United States, why shouldn't we be prepared to meet them and retaliate?" asks Joe.

James McCool, of Natal, received word last week to proceed to Vancouver, where his brother, Alex. McCool, was dying. Alex. has been suffering for a long time from cancer of the stomach.

The Grande Prairie Herald remarks: "Like children playing store, the credit houses appear ready to deal with obstacles as they arise with a childlike naivete that refuses to believe that the handling of cash or credit is a serious matter."

The locomotive whistle can claim a musical pedigree. It was invented by an English organist more than a century ago, following a level crossing crash between a train and a farmer's cart on the Leicester and Swannington railway. In its original form it was known as a whistle, but was called a "stem trumpet."

F. C. Moyer, K.C., of the Drumheller board of trade, has been elected vice-president of the Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture, which was formed last week at a largely attended meeting of representatives of the various boards of trade and chambers of commerce throughout Alberta. Major Holden, of Vegreville, is president of the new organization.

A number of gentleman friends of Colin MacDonald gathered on Saturday night last and presented him with a beautiful radio. Colin was one of the most recent victims of matrimony, having affiliated with the great army of benedictines jointly with Miss Annette Petura, of Frank, in a quiet ceremony at Lethbridge on Saturday, October 22nd. Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald have taken up residence in an apartment over the W. L. Evans' store, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peel.

According to "Apple King" Sullivan, people in the great fruit and vegetable and grain district of Creston do not find life continually happy. Big crops are alright, and the returns are also welcome at all times; but, after toiling from daybreak till dark one feels like resting, but according to "Sully" there is no rest for the righteous or wicked in that new California, due mainly to the continuous deafening roar of seedlings breaking through the earth's surface. The noise, he claims, is not nearly so pronounced after two days of rain.

The building looked upon as likely to some day be chosen as Blaimore's credit house was upset Halloween night, and at present doesn't look habitable.

Some of the Halloween costumes in Blaimore were quite original. One represented a guy unable to make the grade, and on his back he carried the brand "Bill Aberhart."

Mathews that when Premier Aberhart talks about political skulduggery, he protests too much. He should always remember he is living in a glass house, and he should be more careful about throwing stones. At least, those who disagree with his political ideas and methods take a rest on the Sabbath Day.—Drumheller Review.
